AN OPPORTUNITY to be part of the interactive and immersive tourism experience of the historic Round House is now available to volunteers in a recruitment drive by Council.

The Rural City of Murray Bridge is gearing up to engage and train community members who are passionate about History, Heritage and Tourism for the newly revamped and revived venue.

Established in 1876, the State Heritage listed Round House is an iconic building and was fundamental during building of the bridge and the early years of Murray Bridge township.

Volunteers at the Round House provide visitors with an insight into the regions history, provide customer service, tourism advocacy and guide visitors through the historic home, providing commentary on the history and the memorabilia on display.

Volunteer Coordinator Ngareta Cronin said volunteers enjoy the benefits of working with like-minded people, gaining new skills and knowledge, giving back to the community and gaining a sense of belonging.

“We need volunteers to help share our unique Murray Bridge heritage to our visitors from the river and beyond” she said.

“We are asking for community volunteers to help undertake tour guiding, general office duties, receipt admissions, assist with the presentation and/or upkeep of the collections, gardens and grounds.

“Volunteering is a fantastic way to make friends, build networks, learn new skills and, most importantly, have fun.
